Members of the Association, called on Mr Ravi M. Parmar, IAS, Chairman of Mumbai Port Trust (MbPT), on May 29 to congratulate and honour him on his elevation to the top post.

According to an official release, the Chairman appreciated the gesture and, during the conversation with the delegation, talked about the future course of action required to revive and improve ex-im activities at the Port. The President of MANSAs and others expressed happiness that the Deputy Chairman had been promoted as the youngest Chairman of the Port since he was already well conversant with the activities at the facility and aware of the urgent action needed for further development.

The Chairman was keen to look into the various policies and make the necessary changes to attract more traffic and ships to the Port, the release stressed. He was certain of the abundant scope for providing access to and from the Port and its hin-terland without causing hindrance or interfering with the congested city roads.

He also showed interest in the suggestions made by the delegation with regard to coping with the depleted strength of employees, manning for carrying out the day-to-day work at the Port, the policy on land use, and gainful utilisation of places, rooms and other accommodation inside and outside the Port area for better performance.

The MANSAs President assured complete cooperation to the Chairman for enabling him to successfully lead the Port to greater heights, the release emphasised.
